Dear Miss McCausland,

Thank you for your gracious letter, and for your kindly interest in my work. And it delights me more than I can tell you that you have found beauty in my book "Jesus the Son of Man". My only desire in writing it was to sing a hymn of praise at the feet of the Master.

I have already written to my publishers about the pictures you like to have for your article. I am sure they are willing to do everything they can for your generous and kindly offer.

With kindest regards
believe me

Cordially yours
Kahlil Gibran
